ATTENDANCE: To facilitate online learning students must actively participate in the online classroom environment. Students are therefore required to respond to the discussion component of the learning modules. Failure to respond to selected discussion questions or general participation is equivalent an absence in the traditional classroom setting. To foster the online learning community, it is essential to respond to posts within the discussion component to create a dialogue with your classmates. For online courses, attendance is determined by consistently logging in and accessing the course content and completing courses in accordance with Valencia policies the course syllabus.

(College Policy: 6Hx28: 4-7: Academic Progress, Course Attendance and Grades, and Withdrawals)

- You are expected to know the professor's specific attendance policy as stated in the syllabus for each professor's course. In the event of absence from a classroom course or the inability to participate in an online or hybrid course, you should contact your professor as soon as possible to indicate the reason and to inquire whether make-up work is possible. (Make-up work is offered solely at the discretion of your professor.)
- “No Show” Status: Students who are not actively participating in an online class and/or do not submit the first assignment by the scheduled due date must be withdrawn by the instructor at the end of the first week as a "no show". If you are withdrawn as a “no show,” you will be financially responsible for the class and a final grade of “WN” will appear on your transcript for the course.

WITHDRAWAL POLICY:

Per Valencia Policy 4-07 (Academic Progress, Course Attendance and Grades, and Withdrawals), a student who withdraws from class before the established deadline for a particular term will receive a grade of “W”.

A student may withdraw at any time during the term in Atlas. The New Withdrawal Policy has been implemented. Here is what you need to know about the new Withdrawal Policy:

- Students may withdraw themselves for a W up until the withdrawal deadline.
- After the withdrawal deadline each semester, students can no longer withdraw themselves.
- WP and WF have been deleted from Withdrawal procedures.
- Before the withdrawal deadline, both a student and faculty may withdraw the student.
- After the withdrawal deadline, a student cannot withdraw him-/herself.

If a student feels unable to successfully pass the course he/she/they must withdraw by March 22, 2019. I will not withdraw you from the course and you will earn the grade of F. Please don't let this happen, stay current.

Enrollment Agreement (Applicable Terms and Conditions) the students' continued enrollment serves as the student's acceptance and agreement with the terms, conditions and guidelines set forth within the course syllabus. No receipt of the course syllabus is required, likewise the presiding institution, the D.O.E. regional and national body, instructor, and department shall not be held liable should the student claim insufficient knowledge, including ignorance of any policies or instructions contained in the college catalog and/or syllabus. The student therefore accepts the responsibility and obligation to seek clarification from the instructor, in writing, through electronic medium (email) of any questions concerning any policy, compliance, curricular or instructional ambiguity.

STUDENT CONDUCT: Student conduct is important in maintaining a healthy, safe learning environment; this applies to traditional classrooms but especially to the online / virtual courses. We are known by our written words; please avoid inflammatory, rude, obscene, hateful, or bigoted remarks within interactive forums of our virtual 'classroom'. We work together as a learning community; as such, we endeavor to share this opportunity within safe, supportive boundaries.

CLASS PARTICIPATION: Participation in class involves a number of variables, including but not limited to:

- Your willingness to participate actively in all class activities.
- Your cooperation during group and pair work, supporting your classmates with discussion.
- Your respect and attitude toward the class and your peers.
- Your daily preparation for each class/ or module requirement.
- The instructor may assign assessments, which may form part of your participation grade

ACADEMIC HONESTY: You are expected to respect the intellectual property of others. If you use material, ideas, or opinions which are not your own, you must credit your sources, including those for visual and graphic illustrations. Failure to credit the work of others is plagiarism and is a criminal act. It is your responsibility to know what constitutes plagiarism and to avoid it. The penalty for plagiarism is a "0" for the assignment. Any subsequent acts of plagiarism will result in a grade of "F" in the course.

Valencia College (<http://valenciacollege.edu/west/arts-and-humanities/writing/plagiarism.cfm>) defines plagiarism as:

- All work submitted for credit in any class must be the product of the individual student's own original thoughts supported and informed by appropriately documented and credited sources.

- Plagiarism is the use of someone else's words, ideas, pictures, design, and/or intellectual property without the correct documentation and punctuation.
- Plagiarism takes many forms: for example, turning in the same essay for two different courses is considered self-plagiarism and will result in a zero for the paper. You may legitimately wonder how anyone would ever know; this is one of the purposes of the SafeAssign or Turnitin.com plagiarism scan.

Plagiarism is morally indefensible. Any assignment showing signs of plagiarism, either the:

1. Deliberate cut-and-paste of online or print sources
2. Recycling of essays from previous classes
3. Essays written on behalf of the student by family members or friends, or third parties, such as professional essay writing services
4. The result of inattention and incompetence
5. Paraphrasing large sections based on the ideas of another source...even if you put it into your own words will be graded zero. A second offense will result in an appointment with the dean of the Arts and Humanities Department.

How to Avoid Plagiarism

- Here is a good rule: It is better to be safe than sorry in academic writing. Always cite your sources. A person's ideas are their intellectual property. You wouldn't go into another student's backpack and steal their property. Plagiarism is stealing the ideas of another person and passing them off as your own without giving them credit.
 - This includes paraphrasing or summarizing, as well as cut and paste.
 - Cutting and pasting large sections of text, even when you cite your sources, does not represent college level, original writing.
- Canvas (Valencia College's Learning Management System) employs 'Turnitin.com' as a plagiarism detection tool. Please be conscious of your percentage, this score indicates the percentage amount of previously published material within your assignment.
- If you have to look something up for your paper, cite your sources in text, and in your works cited page.
- Even if you summarize, give the author of the ideas credit.

INTERNET RESEARCH, ONLINE SOURCES, OTHER RELATED SITES:

Because of the variety of sources, ease of publication, lack of central control and proliferation of commercial information on the free Internet, it is often hard to tell if the information is reliable. Many sites contain research and information of high quality. However, unlike traditional print publications or library-based electronic resources, there is usually no process of peer review, nor is there an editor verifying the accuracy of information presented on the Internet.

A number of websites containing information may not be complete, anonymously written, out-of-date, biased, or fraudulent. Students should always use caution in use of the Internet for their research needs when working on activities.

VC Expected student conduct: 10-03 Student Code of Conduct

Specific Authority:	1006.60, FS.
Law Implemented:	1006.60, FS.

Valencia College is dedicated to the advancement of knowledge and learning, and to the development of responsible personal and social conduct. By enrolling at Valencia, a student assumes the responsibility for knowing and abiding by the rules of appropriate behavior as articulated in the Student Code of Conduct. The primary responsibility for managing the classroom environment rests with the faculty. Faculty may direct students who engage in inappropriate behavior that results in disruption of a class to leave the class. Such students may be subject to other disciplinary action which may include a warning, withdrawal from class, probation, suspension, or expulsion from the college. Please read the Student Code of Conduct in the current Valencia Student Handbook.

Exams and homework are considered individual effort; any submissions that are too similar for coincidence will receive no credit.

Students may collaborate in group assignments. Collaboration should be used to edit or to clarify doubts. If anyone is involved in incidents of cheating a zero will be given. Each student is expected to be in complete compliance with the college policy on Academic Honesty as set forth in the admissions catalog and the student handbook. Any student(s) cheating on an exam will receive a zero on the exam. This cannot be replaced with the final score and the professor at his/her discretion can withdraw you from the class.

Students are responsible for preparing for class by reading pre-assigned readings and completing assignments.

STUDENT LEARNING, EQUAL ACCESS OF ABILITY:

Valencia strives to provide equal opportunity to all its students. Students with particular needs will be accommodated in the most appropriate way possible. For more specific information on policies and procedures, please refer to the Valencia web page:

<http://valenciacollege.edu/osd/handbook/sec4.htm>

If you require special accommodation for a test or in class activity, you must provide (to me, through email) adequate documentation from the Student Services Office, SSB, West Campus.

Please let me know how I may help you achieve academic success.

*If you require any accommodation for this course you are required to contact the Office of Student Services and provide relevant documentation. You must notify me in writing (email is fine) if you need any such accommodation; this includes Closed Captioning, any audio-visual support, readers, interpreters, note-takers, proctors, or any other consideration. I will provide reasonable accommodation within the spectrum of available services offered through this institution. Acting as an instructor within the perimeters of Valencia College, any and all legal action related to personal liability of instruction/instructional access (including arbitration, dispute resolution, mediation, litigation) falls within the obligation of the presiding institution under FLDOE, whereas the student agrees to release the facilitating instructor of any and all liability. Your enrollment is confirmation of your acceptance of this policy, as well as the release of all claims of liability, instructional/curricular/access or otherwise.

*Students who qualify for academic accommodations must provide a letter from the Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD) and discuss specific needs with the professor, preferably during the first week of class. The Office for Students with Disabilities (West-SSB 102) determines accommodations based on appropriate documentation of disabilities.

The goal at the OSD is to open doors, remove barriers and assist you in any way possible. The key to success is matching your needs to the services provided. Please contact this office to discuss your individual needs.

STUDENT SUPPORT, BEHAVIORAL HEALTH: “Valencia is committed to making sure all our students have a rewarding and successful college experience. Three free confidential face-to-face counseling sessions are also available to students.”

TESTING CENTER: Because our course is asynchronous, your exams will be research-based. We will not be requiring the use of the testing center.

GRADING: Final grades are based on the following criteria:

- Tests: There will be two tests during the course of the semester. Each test may include short answer, essay questions, multiple-choice, true/false, or fill in the blank. As college students, you are all capable of greater intellectual reasoning; you are required to think critically. Test material will come from a greater contextual understanding and application of myth concepts
- Written Assignment/Research Paper: This written assignment/research paper is a high-value requirement. Research prompts (guiding questions) are provided with essay response
- Chapter Content Review (one per module): Content review will make up the majority of your textbook content engagement. It is within these simple assignments that students will demonstrate an understanding of the myth concepts, ideas, comparisons, and broader connections from the material. These Content Reviews consist of a series of questions spanning approximately 3 chapters (or less) relating to critical thinking.

- Discussions: Student will answer the appropriate discussion questions and reply to two of your classmate's discussions. The "reply function" to discussion questions is only available after the original post of discussion questions has been completed. The 'module' discussion questions are found linked from the discussion link course home page.

I will sometimes pose questions within the discussion forum. I read and follow the discussions, often I will send a bulletin to everyone, through the 'Announcements' or Canvas inbox noting particular points of interest and recognizing those who were especially insightful within a module (section/chapter). This is where I will comment on theme and direction with the discussions.

- Replies to discussions: Please be thoughtful in your responses to each other, include more than "I agree." or "I disagree". To receive full credit, you must provide thoughtful reflection with substantial replies to your classmates.

If you miss posting discussion questions to the forum, do not try to post into the discussion thread late; the modules close, simply move forward.

MAKE UP / LATE WORK: If you must submit late work, it will be graded accordingly at partial value. Everything will be posted ahead of time, even most exams (because they are research based), you are strongly encouraged to work ahead to avoid the rush of procrastination. You will have a week to complete your midterm and a week to complete your final exam. I post the exams early to ensure that each of you have access to test questions.

Extra Credit Policy: I do not have extra credit opportunities built into our course environment. If you have an extenuating circumstance, please contact me.

Evaluation: you will receive a numeric grade for all of your assignments. Your final grade is based on a cumulative total of points earned, this way you may keep track of your own average. These seven modules span the duration of the semester; with each module requiring a Chapter Content Review (submitted through the "assignments" link), paired with a discussion component.

Grades are valued on the following criteria...

2 tests (midterm and final) worth 100 points each, both are required to earn credit within this course.

1 Written Assignment/ Research Application, worth 100 points

7 Chapter Content Review (per module), worth 70 points each

7 Discussions worth 30 points each (per module) submitted through the 'Discussion'

Grades are based on the following scale:

A = 100-90 (1000-900 total points)

B = 89-80 (899-800 total points)

C = 79-70 (799-700 total points)

D = 69-60 (699-600 total points)

F = 59-0 (599-0 total points)

It is your responsibility to check your grades; I will not remind you to submit an assignment. It is your responsibility to follow through with course requirements.

When sending an assignment, exam, project or any other work through the Canvas system, you must not use 'Zip', the system (Canvas Instructure) will not support it and the assignment (your work) will be unopened and ungraded. Please submit assignments as a 'Word' doc, preferably pasted in, (rich text / rtf is fine), do not use WPS Microsoft works, office org, Note, Notepad, or other formats.

All requirements are listed in the course syllabus, follow the syllabus and everyone has the opportunity to earn an A! If anyone has difficulty getting the syllabus, please let me know, I'll send a copy to any other email account.

Your continued participation in this course is your affirmation and agreement of the terms and conditions set forth in this syllabus. It is the students' obligation to know (or should know) policies of Valencia College and therefore this Valencia course.

It is your responsibility to stay informed of changes; the calendar is firm but not set in stone. The professor reserves the right to make changes as necessary. If changes are made students may find them through course announcements/mail/and course inbox. The learning modules follow the text and set the pace for the material covered.
