VALENCIA STUDENT CORE COMPETENCIES

This course seeks to reinforce the following Valencia Student Competencies:

- Think clearly, critically and creatively by analyzing, synthesizing, integrating and evaluating symbolic works and truth claims.
- Reflect on your own and others' values from individual, cultural and global
- Communicate by reading, listening, writing and speaking
- Act purposefully, reflectively and responsibly by implementing effective problem solving and decision-making strategies.

NAVIGATING THIS ONLINE COURSE

On the left column you will see tabs such as "Home", "Syllabus", "Announcements", "Discussion", "Grades", and so forth.

- Click on the tab "Home" tab and scroll down to the "Canvas Help" icon to access the information you need to get started.
- Under "Modules", is where you will find the assignments for each week.

Access to internet is required for Canvas. Students are required to check Canvas weekly and are responsible for all information posted by professor on Canvas.

The Home tab in Canvas should be your first source of information regarding the weekly schedule. This is where you will be able to find details for weekly readings (including links to online articles and chapters) and assignments. All course assignments will be submitted through Canvas.

- Logging into class without active participation does not constitute weekly participation.
- Participation must be in the course room in Canvas. Work done in a lab or other outside environment will not count towards participation.
- The online course environment weeks run from Monday at 12:00am EST to Sunday at 11:59pm EST.
- All quizzes and exams must be completed in one sitting, as they are timed, and cannot be re-started. Be sure to allow yourself enough time to complete these assessments.
- Students are strongly encouraged to log into the course multiple times each week to check for updates and announcements.

Start Here! Under the Home tab, in the Module labeled Week 1, "Start Here!". This module includes the Week 1 overview, course syllabus, information about using Canvas, student resources, web etiquette and an introduction discussion assignment where you can introduce yourself to your classmates and learn more about one another.

Discussion Posts: Your initial reflections must be posted by 11:59 pm EST on Wednesday of each week. This is critical because part of your discussion post grade is responding to your peers. Posting by Wednesday evening leaves plenty of time for others to read and respond to your post (and for you to read and respond to others).

Responding to Classmates: You are also required to respond to at least 2 of your classmates for every discussion post. Since this course is online, these discussion posts will serve the same purpose as actual discussion in a live class would. The point is to be fully engaged in the course and with your peers. Responses need to be thoughtful and relevant—simply saying, “I agree with your post,” does not constitute an adequate response. Engage your peers! You should read all of the initial posts before replying.

Discussion Post Grading: It is your responsibility to make sure that you submit your reflection (and responses) on time. If you wait until the last minute, and there is an error with the internet, that is not an acceptable reason for not submitting on time.

Assignments: Your answers should be thorough and complete with supporting information based on assigned reading and/or examples and detailed explanations. Responses of “Yes” or “No” will not be accepted without thorough explanation and will result in reduced points for the assignment. Grammar and spelling will also count towards your assignment grade. NO LATE ASSIGNMENTS will be accepted without consent of the professor, which will only be granted in case of documented reason received and approved by professor in accordance with college policy.

Missed Assignments/Make-Ups/Extra Credit: All assigned work must be completed by the due date. Assignments are always welcomed early. All exams must be taken on or before assigned due dates. No make-up tests are available without explicit consent of instructor which will only be granted in case of documented extreme emergency.

Assignments are due as indicated in the assignment directions. If you do not submit your work on time, you will automatically receive zero credit. Make-ups or extensions are only granted in the event of extreme emergency (illness, family emergencies, etc.) or approved absences and must be accompanied by documentation (e-mailed to me).

Inability to access the web or general internet connection issues are not sufficient excuses for missing/late assignments (e.g. “My internet was down last night, so that’s why my assignment was late.”), particularly for last-minute submissions. It is your responsibility to ensure you have proper internet access throughout this course. No extra-credit will be provided for this course.

ATTENDANCE

Weekly student participation is expected of all online students. Weekly online attendance will be documented via students’ participation in weekly posted assignments in Canvas. The professor may withdraw students who do not maintain regular attendance. Missing the equivalent of three assignments for any reason, other than absences excused in accordance with Valencia’s policies, is excessive and a basis for withdrawal.

No-Show Policy: Class attendance is required beginning with the first class meeting. If you do not attend the first class meeting, you may be withdrawn from the class as a “no show.” Students who are not actively participating in an online class and/or do not submit the first assignment by the scheduled due date must be withdrawn by the instructor at the end of the first week as a “no show”. If you are withdrawn as a “no show,” you will be financially responsible for the class and a final grade of “WN” will appear on your transcript for the course. The policy can be located here.
