

Pg 2...How to write Compare/Contrast Paper

Should look like this: Structural Outline of Subject by Subject

- Introductory paragraph states the thesis.
- topic A: (Iowa team)
- pt 1 tackles
- pt 2 line plays
- pt 3 goals
- topic B: (Michigan team)
- pt 1 tackles
- pt 2 line plays
- pt 3 goals
- Concluding paragraph and restatement of thesis.

Notice how this keeps the points in the same order. This makes the essay more clear giving the reader a better chance at keeping track of the points being made.

Point by Point Organization; Best for Longer Essays

The other organizing strategy is a point by point comparison. This works well for the longer and more in-depth essays. The benefit of this type of organization is that the reader can keep better track of all the points being raised. Staying with the topic of two football teams, say you want to discuss particular plays of each team. You decide to focus on tackles, yard lines, players and goal shots. After writing the introductory paragraph and your thesis statement, each subject is presented and taken up point by point. The first paragraph deals with tackles, say, and first it is addressed with Iowa team and then it is addressed with the Michigan team.

The next paragraph deals with yard lines and likewise first the Iowa team and then in regards to the Michigan team. And so on. As the paper progresses, each point is raised, discussed and then the next. The overall scheme looks like this and is best used for longer, more in depth analysis of several points.

Looks Like This: Structural Outline of Point by Point

- Introduction of Subjects A and B with thesis statement
- pt. 1 A Tackles at Iowa
- pt. 1 B Tackles at Michigan
- pt. 2 A Yard lines at Iowa
- pt. 2 B Yard line at Michigan
- pt. 3 A Goal shots at Iowa
- pt. 3 B Goal shots at Michigan
- pt. 4 A Players at Iowa
- pt. 4 B Players at Michigan
- Concluding paragraph with restatement of thesis
